DESCRIPTION

The BOTANICAL'S London Dry Gin is made through a process that involves 14 different botanicals (one of them secret). It is distilled at Langley Distillery (historic distillery un the UK), using two small stills, both distilling and operating independently; the fusion of the two distillations produces an unique gin, very smooth, dry, citric, spiced... with an exceptional quality.

Only one small part of the process (Small Batch) is selected, the one with the highest purity. After the fourth distillation, the Spirit is infused with 14 botanicals (each one individually) and then it is distilled one last time.

The water used in the elaboration comes from an ancient aquifer located in the outskirts of London. This spring differs from the rest in that most of its water comes from rain, it is filtered by a basaltic rock.

The BOTANICAL'S Gin is a dry, very pleasant and flavoured, balanced, fresh gin. With floral hints, citrus memories and spiced finish. It is very smooth and well balanced in the mouth, an excellent gin to delight the most demanding gin lovers.
